I.—The Catalogue follows, as far as possible, the local arrangement of the articles exhibited. The Galleries and Rooms where the objects enumerated beneath will be found, are named at the headings of sections and pages. A further reference to cases and screens will be made in a subsequent edition.

II.—The Catalogue, as last year, has furnished labels for the greater part of the objects. The labels indicate by coloured borders the country from which the object comes. Thus the border for Austria is orange; Belgium, dark blue; China and Japan, magenta; Denmark, chocolate; France, green; German Empire, black; Greece, full brown; Italy, pearl grey; Netherlands, brown; Norway and Sweden, light blue; Russia, pale green; Spain, lemon; Switzerland, grey; Tunis, fawn; Turkey, lavender; United States, blue; United Kingdom, India, and Colonies, red.

III.—Exhibitors were requested to state the grounds upon which they offered their goods for exhibition, as “novelty,” “cheapness,” “excellence of manufacture,” &c. Where they have done so their remarks are quoted; but it should be distinctly understood that for these remarks, and whatever may appear in the appendices to the Catalogue, the Exhibitors are wholly responsible.

IV.—Each entry has been or will be submitted to the Exhibitor concerned, for revision. It has been found impossible to complete this work for the First Edition ; it is in progress, and will if possible be quite complete for the Second Edition.

V.—The system of consecutive numbering to each object, or group of objects, adopted last year, has been continued on account of its simplicity and facility of reference. It is thus possible at once to identify an object without pausing to consider to what division and class it belongs, the number upon it having but one similarly numbered entry in the Catalogue to correspond.

VI.—To afford the public facilities for obtaining objects at close of the Exhibition and to Register Exhibits selected for purchase, there will be four Clerks employed in various parts of the building, viz. : the West Picture Gallery, for British Pictures, Photographs, and Engravings ; East Picture Gallery, for Foreign Pictures, and Architectural Designs ; East Gallery, in Room XI., for Musical Instruments, Cotton, Paper, &c. ; East Gallery, in Room XV., for Jewellery. They will be at their desks daily from 9.30 a.m. to 6 p.m., and will assist intending purchasers under the subjoined rules framed in accordance with the practice followed at the Royal Academy Exhibitions.

a The Price Clerk will register the Selection of Exhibits by intending purchasers.

b Any Object or Picture not priced by the Exhibitor will be regarded by the Price Clerk as “Not for Sale,” unless special instructions are given by the Owner.

c An intending purchaser will sign his name and enter his address on a Form which will be retained as a voucher for marking the Object or Picture as selected for purchase.

d The Price Clerk will then communicate with the Owner of the Object or Picture, and will enter the Exhibit as selected for purchase.

e No article can be removed from the Exhibition until its close.

f All duplicates must be obtained out of the Exhibition, but the Price Clerk will not take orders ; such applications should be made direct to the Exhibitor.

g Articles selected for purchase will be removed by the Exhibitor, with whom all monetary transactions must be conducted.

VI.—The public is requested to send notice of all errors that may be discovered, addressed to the Secretary of the Executive, London Exhibition of 1872, Upper Kensington Gore, S.W., marked “CATALOGUE” in the corner of the envelope.

The wife of the duke's brother was staying with them, and at the first shock and confusion had rushed out of her own room into that of the duchess, and fallen on the floor. The duchess, who at the time was pregnant, was still in bed; but as her women lifted Lady Anglesea, she started up, and, in her night-gear as she was, ran out into the gallery, followed by her sister."—See Forster's "Life of Sir John Eliot."

"Four of the number, who were too much impaired in constitution to return home, continued at St. Germain's. One day, when listlessly strolling near the iron palisades of the palace, they saw a boy of six years old about to get into a coach emblazoned with the Royal Arms of Great Britain. This child was the son of the exiled King and Queen, the disinherited Prince of Wales, who was going to join the promenade of the French Court at Marly. He recognised the unfortunate emigrants, and, instead of entering the coach, made a sign for them to approach. They advanced respectfully, and spontaneously offered the mark of homage which, according to the custom of the times, was accorded to persons of royal rank, by kneeling and kissing his hands, which they bathed with their tears. The princely boy graciously raised them, and with that touching sensibility which is often prematurely developed by early misfortunes, expressed his grateful appreciation of their loyalty. He told them he had often heard of their valour, and that it made him proud, and that he had wept for their misfortunes as much as he had done for those of his own parents; but he hoped a day would come that would convince them that they had not made such great sacrifices for ungrateful princes."—See Miss Strickland's "Queens of England."

"Stepping from the doorway that opened on the roof, the mistress of the mansion clapped her hands, and the neighbouring portion of that aerial population came flocking across the narrow boundaries and low parapets of the housetops to listen to the tale of scandal just narrated to us. A woman on the stairs paused to whisper it to a friend, and Fatima, crouching by the doorway, looked as if she had reasons of her own for dreading the impending revelation. Then I saw at once the meaning of the text, 'That which ye have spoken in the ear in closets shall be proclaimed upon the housetops.'"

Receive my head into your hands, for it is a great satisfaction to me to sit facing my holy place, where I was wont to pray, that I may also sitting call upon my Father.' "They brought the Queen's children to her, in order that their presence, by softening the mob, might serve as a buckler to their mother. They placed them in the depth of the window. They wheeled in front of this the council table. Preserving a noble and becoming demeanour in this dreadful situation, she held the Dauphin before her, seated upon the table. Madame was at her side.

"A young girl, of pleasing appearance and respectably attired, came forward, and bitterly reviled in the coarsest terms l'Autrichienne. The Queen, struck by the contrast between the rage of this young girl and the gentleness of her face, said to her in a kind tone, 'Why do you hate me? Have I ever done you an injury?' 'No, not to me,' replied the pretty patriot, 'but it is you who cause the misery of the nation.' 'Poor child,' replied the Queen, 'some one has told you so, and deceived you. What interest can I have in making people miserable? The wife of the King, mother of the Dauphin, I am a Frenchwoman, in all the feelings of my heart, as a wife and a mother. I shall never again see my own country. I can only be happy or unhappy in France. I was happy when you loved me.'

"This gentle reproach affected the heart of the young girl, and her anger was effaced; she asked the Queen's pardon, saying, 'I did not know you, but I see that you are good.'"

"One day, overcome with sadness, he shut himself in his cell, and for several days and nights suffered no one to approach him. One of his friends, Lucas Edemberger, uneasy about the unhappy monk, took with him some young boys—choral singers—and knocked at the door of his cell. No one opened or answered. Edemberger broke open the door and found Luther stretched on the floor, and without any signs of life. His friend tried in vain to recall his senses, but he continued motionless. Then the young choristers began to sing a sweet hymn. Their clear voices acted like a charm on the poor monk, to whom music had always been a source of delight, and by slow degrees his strength and consciousness returned."

"The King having determined to besiege Gloucester came before it on the 10th of August, 1643, and drew up his army on a fair hill in the clear view of the city, and within less than two miles of it. And then, being about two o'clock in the afternoon, he sent in a trumpeter with a summons to the town, demanding its surrender. Within less than the time allowed, together with the trumpeter and herald, returned two citizens, Sergeant-major Pudsey and Tobias Jordan (one of the corporation), and were conducted to where the King stood, attended by the two young princes, Prince Rupert, Lord Forth, Dr. Chillingworth, and other distinguished personages. The men in a pert, shrill, undismayed accent read the reply, which was to the effect that they kept the godly city of Gloucester for the King, and would surrender it to him with the consent of both Houses of Parliament."—See Clarendon's History of the Rebellion, Book V.

"In fixing the Crescent Solitaire or Stud for wear, it is upon the principle of a screw that the back-plate is to be inserted. The stud-hole need be but a little larger than half the diameter of the back-plate, and the Solitaire or Stud being wormed into the stud-hole cannot be released but by the same action, and is therefore prevented from accidentally escaping from the stud-hole."

FIRE-PROOF STARCH,
FOR MUSLIN AND COTTON FABRICS, AND WINDOW BLINDS OR BED CURTAINS.

This Starch renders Fabrics unflammable, without affecting their Colour, Strength, or appearance, and requiring only ordinary treatment by the Laundress.

Directions for Laundress.

Crush the Starch well, and dissolve it in a very small quantity of warm water. When dissolved, pour on boiling water, and keep stirring till the desired strength of the solution is produced for the fabric, and to which it is to be applied in a warm state. It is very essential that the water should really boil when it is poured on.

The Laundress then treats the dress or fabric in the usual way, and when it is ironed out it ceases to endanger life by being inflammable.

ROLA'S IMPROVED ART OF TEACHING AND LEARNING THE PIANO.

In two parts, 5s. each, or 8s. the two. Pieces out of a series forming the THIRD PART OF ROLA'S ART, suitable for schools or self instruction, at half marked price. Post free if from the author, 22, Leinster Square, Bayswater, London, W., viz., Vincent Rola. Full particulars for one stamp. NO ORDERS ARE EXECUTED unless the amount is sent.

This improved system offers extremely easy, but above all an infallible, method for laying down a solid foundation of theory of music and the art of correct touch, phrasing, artistic colouring and style, and therefore for the culture of musical taste, with the power of counting correctly, reading, and playing already at the third lesson four numbers of exercises at sight, from the Treble Bass, including the notes on the ledger lines, which is out of question on the exploded method of the present Instruction Books; yet, strange to say, they are still used and glibly followed in presence of these and following facts, and as if there was nothing better!

Mr. J. T. Cherry, Professor of the Piano, &c., of 10, Lockyer Street, Plymouth, writes:—"I am astonished at the simplicity and the decided progressive order of your system. It tells of unremitting and arduous labour of thought, which has also been produced in an original manner. I have read your pages of instruction in 'The Teacher's Part' with a passing feeling of pleasure. Their clearness, lucidness, their telling simplicity, as well as scientific facts, to which a no cannot be said, however they may be 'poohed, poohed' by lips that do not give forth a fair judgment, even after the eye and practice have proved their worth. I gave a few lessons, viz., 2nd, 3rd, and 7th, at a kind of random and rough trial to some of my pupils. I was truly astonished, as much as they were surprised at the results. I thank you for the great benefit you have conferred upon the science, and to lovers of music—if they but saw it. Time must prove it, for the more I use your work, and see its results, the more I am pleased with it."

"Ladies' School, Malvern House, Wellington Place, Reading, Berks.

"I have used Mr. Rola's new system for some years, with dull and quick children, and I have been thankful to my sister ever since she recommended the work. Both teacher and pupil are saved the usual drudgery, and in a wonderfully short time children of six years even will not only count but read difficult music with ease. Since I have adopted the system in the school, the children have gained in touch and brilliancy of playing, &c., and take more interest in the study of music. We have no children now who are not fond of music lessons, which I attribute wholly to Mr. Rola's system. I would not be without Mr. Rola's work on any consideration.

"ANNIE JENKINS."

"Mrs. Palliser has taught her daughter of seven years, and she considers it wonderful the way it brings on a pupil, and makes it so easy.—Ancestown, Tramore, Ireland."

"Sir,—I write to express my astonishment, particularly at the performance of the little boy [the lady writer alludes to Mr. Rola's Pupils' Monthly Performances, which take place on the last Friday of every month, from 3 to 5, at his Academy, 25 Manchester Street, W.], his evident perfect knowledge of the signatures of the major and minor keys, notes, fingering, touch, expression, time, and reading at sight were, I think, really wonderful in so young a child (seven and a half), having only learnt a year and a half.—Yours truly,

"CAROLINE G. WALE, 4, Ridgway Terrace, Wimbledon."

"Sir,—I may be supposed, I think, to have some little experience in such matters [wrote the father of the celebrated Madeline Schiller, one of the most gifted living young ladies and brilliant performer on the piano, and favorite pupil of Moschelles]. As far as that experience goes, I have never observed any other system of teaching the piano in England or abroad giving anything like the result of yours. Very few pupils, if any, under the old method, know so much in years as my boy has acquired in less than six months. How you have managed to impart and make him do all this, and theoretically understand so much, and execute so well in such a little time,—as he has hitherto failed in everything else I placed him to—and how you have taught him at the very first—which is, in every other case I am acquainted with, a last and most difficult acquirement—the sustaining power of melodious intonations with a firm, round, rich, and ringing touch, is to me as astonishing as it is gratifying. My express object in writing this is that it may lead other parents to avail themselves, for their children, of the extraordinary advantage of being taught under your system. "H. C. SCHILLER, 21, Princess Sq., Bayswater, W.

"I placed a servant lad of my own, who did not know one note from another, under Mr. Rola, and in twenty-five minutes the boy [writes the Rev. J. R. Gleig, Chaplain General to the Forces], to the amazement of myself and the ladies of my family, was able to name every note extended to seven ledger lines above or below the table stave and bass. [And a child, after three lessons only, on the value of notes, surpassed her sister in counting, who had been six years under the best masters' tuition.] Facts like these appear to me to go far beyond a whole volume of reasoning, and the system which leads to them is surely not one which those who are interested in the progress of musical science would wisely overlook. I look upon the drift of Mr. Rola's whole scheme, and what he has already achieved, as the commencement of one of the most useful revolutions which, in music at least, the world has witnessed."

"A THING OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOR EVER."

This is one of the most Marvellous Inventions of the present time, and is really

THE WINDOW BLIND OF THE PERIOD!

It Eclipses all other Inventions and Improvements in Window Furniture and Window Decoration.

IT IS LIGHT, USEFUL, DURABLE, & ELEGANT.

THE "REASON WHY" YOU SHOULD ORDER THESE BLINDS.

If you have but little room to fix and would economise light, it will fix in half the space.

If you would avoid the inconvenience and expense of re-painting, the Metallic Window Blind can be cleaned with soap and warm water.

If you desire your house to have an elegant and tasteful appearance, furnish your window with the Patent Metallic Window Blind.

If you would reduce the risk of your premises taking fire, the Metallic Blind is fire-proof, and has saved premises from that unfortunate calamity.

OPINIONS OF SCIENTIFIC JOURNALS.

"These Blinds have a singularly light and elegant appearance; when drawn up they do not occupy half the space of the clumsy wooden lath Blind. The friction on the tapes and cords is much less than with the ordinary wooden lath."—Architect, Sept. 17, 1870.

"These Blinds well deserve public attention."—Building News, May 19, 1871.

THOUSANDS ARE IN USE IN ENGLAND, AMERICA, INDIA, and the COLONIES, and the test of seven years has stamped it with a reputation for its excellent qualities that will make its name "Familiar as Household Words." Once tried, you must admit that one half of its beauty and usefulness have not been told; also that they are far cheaper, and render the apartment more cheerful than any other Venetian Blind.

REPORT BY DR. LANKESTER.

I have examined microscopically and chemically several specimens of "MAIZENA" purchased in London, and I am able to say that it consists entirely of the farina of the Maize, and that it is remarkably uniform in its quality and character, and free from ALL impurities. This preparation possesses in a high degree the dietetical qualities of the best kinds of food, and I attribute its excellence to the fact of its being exclusively prepared from Maize grown in America. I can confidently recommend this preparation as an article of diet for INVALIDS or CHILDREN.

(Signed) EDWIN LANKESTER, M.D.,
Superintendent of the Food Collection, South Kensington.

This delicious BOON for children, the aged, and the invalid, makes, with cost, time, and trouble insignificant, delicious cakes, Creams, Puddings, Jellies, Sauces, Omelets, Pies, Blanc Mange, Bavarois, &c., for Breakfast, Lunch, Dessert, and Supper, saving Eggs, Butter, sugar, Milk, Isinglass, &c.

May be tasted in the form of delicious MAIZENA PUDDINGS, served daily in the Refreshment Department of the EXHIBITION.

Received Medals at London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Hamburg, 1863; Cologne, 1865; Havre, 1866; Amsterdam, 1869; American Institute, and when or wherever exhibited, high awards & flattering reports of judges. Highly prized and ordered by the best physicians of all countries. AMONG OVER TWENTY AWARDS,
